"THE COWBOY'S PRAYER"

IS FROM THE ABLE PEN OF BADGER CLARK

(Ed. Note—The following poem, published recently in Arizona newspapers, has carried a line "Author Unknown. It is from the pen of Badger Clark, the Cowboy Poet, who spent some time at the ranch of Kendall Bros., at South Pass, making frequent trips to Tombstone where he made many friends. It was during his stay at the Kendall ranch that Mr. Clark wrote many beautiful and true-to-nature works of the great open west, among them "The Cowboy's Prayer," reproduced herewith:

THE COWBOY'S PRAYER

(By BADGER CLARK)

Oh, Lord, I've never lived where churches grow,
I love creation better as it stood
That day you finished it so long ago,
And looked upon your work and called it good.

I know that others find you in the light
That filters down through tinted window panes,
And yet I seem to feel you near to night
In this dim, quiet starlight on the plains.

I thank you, Lord, that I am placed so well,
That you have made my freedom so complete,
That I'm no slave of whistle, clock or bell,
Or week-eyed prisoner of wall or street.

Just let me live my life as I begun,
And give me work that's open to the sky;
Make me a partner of the wind and sun,
And I won't ask a life that's soft or high.

Let me be easy on the man that's down;
And make me square and generous with all;
I'm careless sometimes, Lord, when I'm in town,
But never let them say I'm mean or small.

Make me as big and open as the plains,
As honest as the horse between my knees,
Clean as the wind that blows behind the rains,
Free as the hawk that circles down the breeze.
